

Annex III: Graphical Representation of Responses to the Questionnaire

In your country, is migration identified as an issue in development-relevant policy areas?

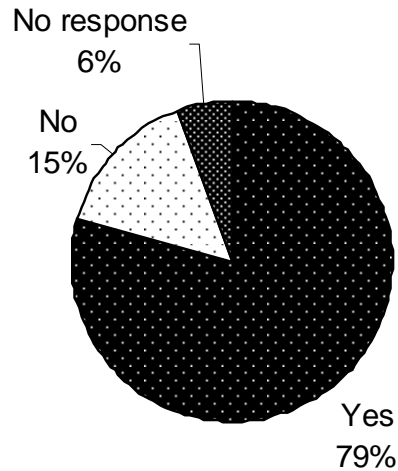

In your country, is development identified as an issue in migration policy?

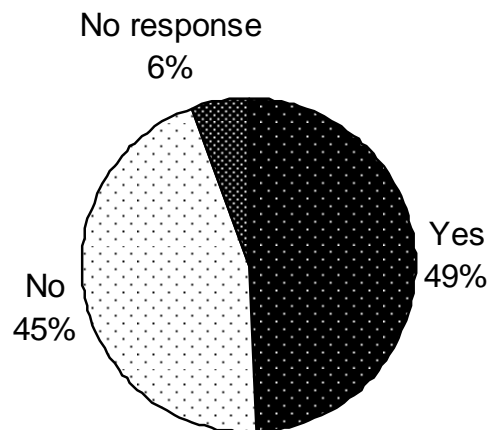

Annex III: Graphical Representation of Responses to the Questionnaire

Has your Government officially declared that migration is important for development and/or that development is important for migration (e.g. official policy, government declaration, official statement, etc.)?

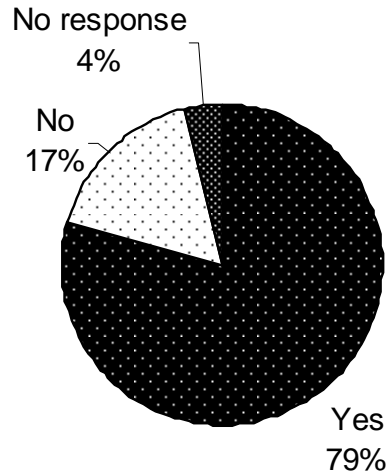

Do you have a national policy plan and/or strategy for migration and development?

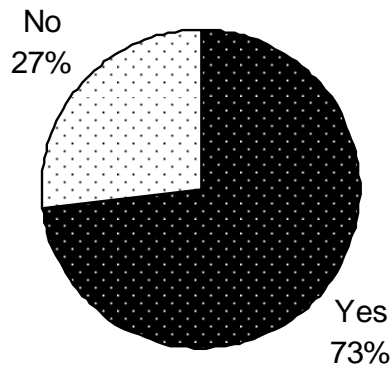

Annex III: Graphical Representation of Responses to the Questionnaire

Is there a particular unit/department in charge of coordinating work on migration and development in your respective ministries, departments and/or agencies?

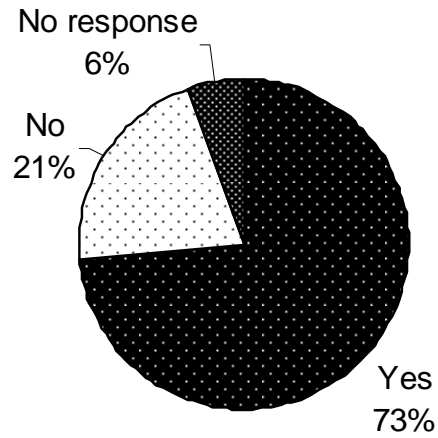

Has the government established focal points¹ for migration and development within individual ministries, departments, and/or agencies in your country

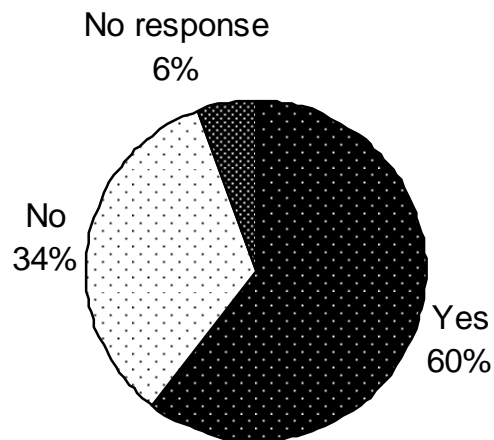

¹ States were asked to not include the focal points created for the preparation of the GFMD if these focal points are only in charge of receiving and disseminating information relating to the GFMD.

Annex III: Graphical Representation of Responses to the Questionnaire

Has the creation of a focal point specifically for the GFMD contributed to achieving/launching improved consultations on migration and development within your government?

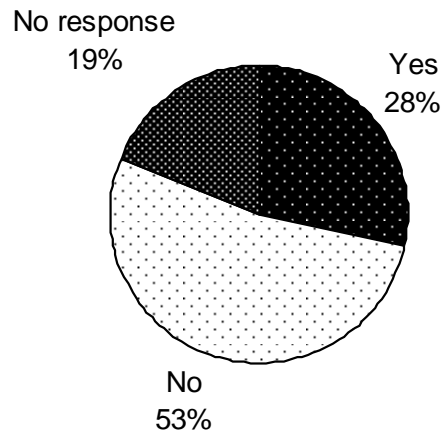

Are resources (staff, financial or other) available to specifically address links between migration and development as well as coherence with regard to policy planning?

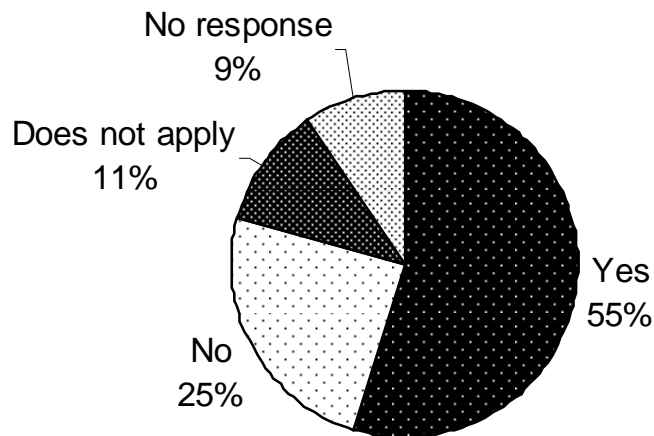

Annex III: Graphical Representation of Responses to the Questionnaire

Has the government established, or intend to establish within the next three years, a co-managed migration and development budget line?

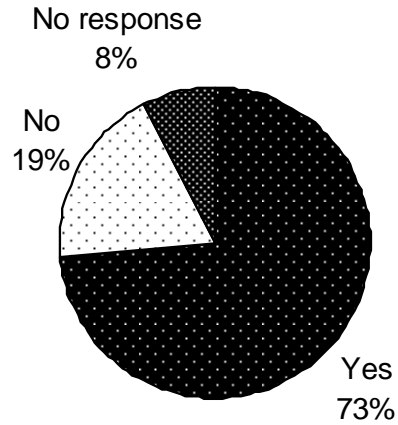

Does your country integrate migration in the formulation of development plans and/or strategies/plans for poverty reduction (PRSPs or similar), and/or in the formulation of country strategies for development cooperation?

Annex III: Graphical Representation of Responses to the Questionnaire

Beyond coherence at the national level, do common initiatives to promote policy coherence (migration and development) exist between your country and other countries?

Do you see a role for international organizations to assist in achieving greater policy coherence between migration and development policies on national and international levels?

